

Bank Aljazira launches “Tomouh” Credit Card with a low credit limit

In a move to diversify its services to its clients in order to meet their requirements, Bank Aljazira has announced the launch of its credit card “Tomouh”. The Card is issued with a low credit limit of SAR50 wherein, clients can charge and recharge the card in any time according to his needs quickly and easily.

The new card is especially designed to provide clients with more convenience, control and security enabling them to easily track their expenses and use the card seamlessly in their shopping, travels, and bills payment, daily or online purchases and, a unique feature that gives customer the ability to issue supplementary cards for all ages.

Sultan Al Hamidi, the Head of Consumer Assets said: “The low credit limit Tomouh Credit card is compliant with Islamic Shariah rules and worldwide conventional payment systems. It is highly flexible in terms of payment and easy to recharge through various means and channels such as ATM’s, AlJazira Online, AlJazira Smart and Automated Answering System or through Bank Aljazira branches throughout the Kingdom.”

Worth mentioning, Tomouh card has the smart chip feature that enables clients to transfer money to the credit card from the current account thru Aljazira Online, with the freedom to choose the amount to be charged in the card without limit and can be used directly upon completion of the transfer. And in order for them to manage and track their expenses easily, a monthly statement will be issued to card holders, in addition clients can use “SADAD” in paying the service charges safely and easily.